Rallying Around the Flag.

The Hon. EDWARD J. PHELPS of Vermont is a citizen respected equally by Democrats and Republicans for calmness of judgment. acuteness of discernment, and habitual equipoise of the moral and intellectual faculties. He is not a man easily frightened by imaginary dangers, or addicted to sensational per formances in politics. He has adhered to the Democratic party for years in a State where fidelity to the principles of Democracy is the best possible proof of sincerity and distnerestedness of conviction; and he is not the less a Democrat now because of this declaration of his intention to vote in November for the Republican candidates for President and Vice-President:

"Of course, I am for McKruzy and Howary and no ego else during these critical times. It is my patriotic duty, and should be the duty of all loyal and patriotic citizens, to support the sound money candidates in this campaign.

"You may quote me as saying that in this campaign f are first, last, and always in favor of McKryney and Houser, and shall do everything to further their election. I am utterly opposed to everything and anything that tends to repudiation and anarchy."

The Democrats all over the United States who, like Mr. PHELPS, are now resolving to sink every prejudice of partisanship and ignore every consideration save that of patriotic duty, are not to be regarded as going over from the Democracy to the Republican party when they vote for McKINLET and HORART, as the surest method of defeating the repudiator ticket.

They are only rallying around the flag of the Union; and honor to them all!

The Bryan Letter to Mr. Carden,

The Hon. GEORGE A. CARDEN of Dallas. Texas, has published in the Dallas Morning News a letter which he received in February last from the Hon. WILLIAM J. BRYAN. The occasion for the communication was a paragraph in the Dalias newspaper saying that Mr. BEYAN had long since renounced his allegiance to the Democratic party and had assumed the leadership of the free-silver party in the West.

The letter is reproduced in part in our columns this morning. It is of general interest to Democrats to whom Mr. BRYAN now appeals for votes on the ground of the regularity of his nomination at Chicago. It sets forth more fully and deliberately than either Mr. BEYAN's Jackson speech or his Birmingham speech, the fixed intention of the present candidate, months before the Democratic National Convention, to bolt the ticket and repudiate the platform of that Convention in case it was not controlled by free-silver men like himself

This declaration of an intention to bolt in a certain event, written and signed by Mr. BEYAN in advance of the Convention, should be read and pondered by all Democrats who yet entertain the notion that the Chicago candidate has a claim upon their loyalty in this election, independently of the issues involved and merely because he was nominated.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN has no valid claim upon the allegiance of any Democrat. Every argument which he used to support his elaborately declared intention of bolting an honest-money candidate and an honestmoney platform, is a good argument now for the honest-money Democrat who hesitates between party regularity and his duty to his country.

Patriotism and Treason.

Such an appeal to the patriotic pride of the people as was made by Mr. Cockban on Tuesday evening is peculiarly necessary in this campaign.

Behind the heat and the wildness of the silver agitation there lurks the cold and treas nable purpose of provoking sectional jealousy and hatred in behalf of repudiation. The seditious attempt to incite social war for its benefit is also made apparent in utterances like those by Senator FAULENER of West Virginia about the defence of the gold standard being "a contest of the classes against the masses."

So far from exciting sectional animosities and stimulating social hatreds and jealousies, however, the honest and intelligent discussion of the issue now before the people should tend and does tend to bring all the people into closer union and greater barmony. Whether there are or not differences of interest determined by differences of place or social condition as concerning other questions of economic policy and principle, there can be no such division facts relating to the operations of the Cuban touching the money standard. It is onlike true that as matters were up to the time of the Republican Convention at St. Louis, Mr. McKINLET did not seem to us to be the most satisfactory candidate that could be nominated to represent the cause of honest money in a campaign in which that question was to be the overshadowing issue. He was most conspicuously identi- ground in question, and no such idea has fied with another great question, that of protection to American industry by tariff | timely; but it is none the less desirable to legislation. His record on silver was less assuring than that of some other candidates for the nomination, notably Governor Mon-His utterances on the subject in Congress had been neither hold nor always consistent. His supporters in the preliminary canvass seemed to desire to subordinate the currency question to that of the tariff, on at some day is or is not contemplated, its which the Major's position was universally and unquestionably understood.

But forces superior to the intentions of any individual or any set of political managers shaped the campaign otherwise. Major McKiniky was nominated on a platform unequivocal in its demand for the maintenance of the gold standard. The capture of the Democratic Convention at Chicago by the Populistic element of the party, and the nomination of Mr. BETAN as the champion of Tillmanism and Altgeldism, and the advocate of repudiation and national dishonor, rendered the issue as plain as the sun in the clear beavens, and made the alternative before the voter as simple as the choice of HERCTLES between vice and virtue. At that time we expressed our belief that the progress of the campaign would be marked by gratifying progress on the part of the Republican candidate in the matter of definite declarations satisfactory to all friends of honest money. Such has been the Major McKINLEY, in his dignified and well-considered speeches at Canton, has manifested a constantly increasing appreciation of the tremendous issue involved. and of the necessity of facing with a bold front the allied hordes of dishonor and disorder. His speeches have steadily increased the confidence of those who look to his election as the sole hope of keeping honest the Government's dollar. No man now speaking is uttering safer financial doctrine than that which we are getting from Major Mc-KINLEY; and if any doubt remains in any mind as to the soundness and stability of the Major's personal opinions concerning the supreme question of this campaign, we venture to predict that his formal letter of acceptance, soon to appear, will remove the last vestige of it.

This has been already a campaign of edueation for a great many citizens, the Hon. WILLIAM MCKINLEY included. Whatever uncertainty there may have been in past years as to his position in regard to the independent free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, there is absolutely none to-day; for it was only on last Tuesday that he presented to a visiting delegation the gist of the question at issue, in this forcible and effective way :

" This money of homely fashion: If free coinage of silver means a fifty three cent dollar, then it is not an hones! dollar. If free coinage means a one-hundred-cent dollar, equal to a gold dollar, as some of its advocates assert, we will not then have cheap dollars but dollars just like those we now have, and which will be as hard to get. In which case free coinage will not help the debtor or make it easier for him to pay his debts."

Mr. BRYAN stands for cheap money, 47 per cent, repudiation, and lower wages for every man that works by the day, or week, or month, or year. A vote against BRYAN will be a vote against paying debts in dishonest money, against halving the purchasing power of the hard earned dollar, against turning the Government over to a set of cranks and light wits. Is there any doubt what will be the choice of the voter who is both honest and sensible? And a vote for McKinley on Nov. 3 will be just twice as effective as a vote cast against BRYAN in any other form.

The Philippines.

As a nation's troubles often do not come singly, it is not surprising to find some of the Madrid newspapers fearing a revolt in the Philippine Islands. But the suggestion that Japan is, for selfish reasons, encouraging the natives to throw off the Spanish yoke, appears to be the outcome of suspicions rather than of facts.

Apprehension in regard to Japan dates back, indeed, to her acquisition of Formosa, as one of her conditions of peace with China. At that time an outery was raised in Spain that the next step of the Japanese might be to try to anney the Philippines, which lie only a little over 200 miles south of their new possession, with small Spanish islands intervening. But the anxiety was at least premature; for Japan promptly entered into regotiations with Spain for defining their common water frontier, and certainly Spain was not the loser in the agreement then reached. Japan's ambition to be a great sea power is not doubted. She prizes her colonies in the Pacific, and it was once reported that she desired to acquire the Carolines by purchase. But we see no more evidence of her conspiring to excite the natives of the Philippines to revolt than of her seeking to arouse the royalists of Hawaii.

The Manila Government, as one exercised by foreigners, may naturally be inksome to some of the natives of the Philippines, and this was shown by the last revolt. A late reckoning put Spain's Army of the Philippines at seven regiments of infantry and one of artillery, with a squadron of cavalry and several minor bodies, the total effective being 864 officers and 19,238 men. A naval force is also required for these islands, so that altogether no doubt it would be a hard trial for Spain if an outbreak there should accompany the revolution in Cuba.

The prompt demand of Minister TERRELL that the Americans imprisoned in Turkey should be turned over to him for examination on whatever charges are made against them, is based upon our agreements with tion. These Americans are not native, but naturalized, being, in fact, Armenians,

The assertion formerly made by the Prime Minister Carovas, Spain has never enemies of land purchase, that the Irish tenant, if helped to buy his holding, would ter to chest the Government, turns out to have been a calumny.

Of course, the number of tenants which the Commission has thus far been able to transform into landowners, represents but lax in its duty toward Spain. It would an insignificant fraction of the Irish peasantry. Under the new Land set four or five times as much money should be annually available for the purpose.

It also declared that a person residing within the dominion of the Porte is its subject, until he affirmatively establishes his status as a foreigner by formal proof. These restrictions, as applied to Armenian Christians, have brought the Ottoman Government at times into conflict with ours.

In the present instance, the case of one man appears very doubtful; but the other eight have documentary evidence touching their citizenship, and six of them are said to carry passports issued by our Department of State. The men say that they had returned to Armenian merely to visit relatives. The question whether any crime has been committed by them, or whether their only offence is that of being found within the Sultan's dominions, will of course be inquired into by Mr. Transiti.
